SUBJECT: Congratulations!

Congratulations on receiving the Cooperative Extension Team Award for the RightRisk Team and for the national recognition on receiving the Epsilon Sigma Phi (ESP) Distinguished Team Award, two honors much deserved. The Team Awards given by both Cooperative Extension and the professional fraternity, ESP, recognize teamwork that makes a difference in Colorado communities and currently even beyond the state borders. The significant impact of the RightRisk program on risk management skills for firm survival is evidenced by the numerous awards already bestowed upon the team—University of Wyoming Cooperative Extension, Colorado State University College of Agriculture, Western Agricultural Economics Association, American Agricultural Economics Association and others. The team has definitely responded to a critical need in the region by formulating education opportunities that really do impact agricultural producers and agricultural lenders. Your team is truly deserving of a “team” award.

Again, congratulations and keep up the good work!
